School vote Tuesday

An editorial

Your kids and $$

There are two major reasons the Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District should vote favorably for the $1,183,000 bond issue next Tuesday. There is no substantial reason to vote negative.

In the first place our high school building is inadequate in size -- it has been inadequate for several years. This inadequacy means that students cannot have even reasonable access to the library; that the students have to use the auditorium with inadequate lighting and no desk facilities for study hall, and, even more important, the school cannot offer courses the students need to obtain good jobs in our changed economy. For instance, Bay High has to conduct three divergent courses in its one small, crowded laboratory -- a lab, a science lecture and a French class. On the other hand Picayune, which otherwise has a poorer school has a large modern physics and chemistry laboratory as well as a biology laboratory.

This first reason is for the benefit of our school children -- our most valuable asset. The second reason is a pocket book one. A lot of families with school age children connected with Michoud, MTO and allies businesses that may locate here just plain won't consider the Bay-Waveland area for their home when Picayune, Pass Christian and Long Beach (all cities of our size) can offer more in the way of education. It's true, we have other advantages over these communities that may cause those without children to choose the Bay-Waveland area for their home but not the large number of families with children.

After all Picayune just recently added 26 classrooms and is building more now. Two years ago Pass Christian, about half our size, passed a quarter million dollar bond issue for school construction and right now have a half million dollar bond issue up for vote. Clear Creek School District, Texas, outside of Houston, which was smaller than Bay-Waveland in 1960 but is booming because of another NASA installation, votes this Saturday on a 4.5 million dollar school bond issue.

A casual check of merchants in this area -- these are the people whose taxes will increase the most if the bond issue passes -- indicates an almost unanimous approval of the bond issue. They know that unless the bond issue is passed their businesses will suffer. The same reason applies to the employees, whether skilled or day labor. Even more it applies to owners of property, large and small.

While we should vote for the bond issue solely for the benefit of our children, even the tightwads and selfish should vote for it because passage will probably put dollars in his or her pocket.

A motorcade through the entire territory served by the Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. Monday as the final big effort to get out the vote Tuesday in favor of the school system's proposed $1,183,000 bond issue.

The motorcade will assemble on the Carroll Avenue side of Bay High School with a fully decked out parade float carrying high school students and others taking part. Thomas O. Logue, who is in charge of public meetings for the Citizens for Progress Committee, said a prize will be offered for the best decorated car.

Meanwhile the citizens

Services

of thanks

The union Thanksgiving service of Protestant churches in Bay St. Louis is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at First Baptist Church. Rev. Emory Green, host pastor, has announced.

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church will have a special Thanksgiving mass at 10 a.m. next Thursday, according to Msgr. James J. Hannon, pastor.

A number of other churches in the area also plan services to note Thanksgiving Day.

Rev. Lamar Martin, pastor of Main Street Methodist Church, will deliver the Thanksgiving message at the union services Wednesday. The combined choirs of the Protestant churches will sing with Dewey Lane, in charge of the music-education at First Baptist, directing.

Rev. E. A. Lindsey of First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Charles R. Johnson of Christ Episcopal Church and Mr. Green will conduct the worship.

A fellowship hour will follow with the Woman's Missionary Society of the host church in charge of refreshments.

group, school and city officials would up their series of public meetings last night when they addressed Negro citizens at Valena C. Jones School to outline the proposed building program and what millage is attached. A similar meeting took place last week at Waveland School.

Both buildings are scheduled for expansion under the bond issue which also provides for erection of a new public high school on Blue Meadow Road.

Precinct officials have been named by Eugene Davis, chairman of the city election commission.

Serving at the six precincts within the school district will be the following, with the peace and returning officer listed first:

Edwardsville--J.W. Watts, Jr., Felix Seeger, Walter Dugan, Gilmore Fawcett, Arlington--John J. Fayard, Mrs. Morris Garcia, Mrs. Carl S. Gustafson, Selwyn Rudinford, Courthouse--Vernon Lasher, Mrs. James McDonald, Mrs. Joe Compton, Leopold Parker, North Bay--W.T. Johnston, Mrs. Walter Rausch, Mrs. Rene

near 3,000

They're just short of 3,000 on the payroll for Mississippi Test Operations--and chances are the total will reach that figure in the next few weeks if the weather holds out.

Monday's total was 2,926, up 83 from last week. Contractor personnel has increased 71 to its present level of 2,572. Other categories remain about the same and General Electric Co. continues to move persons here for support operations.

The bascule bridge at the canal was opened for the first time Monday and worked perfectly, officials reported. It was raised about 15 inches to check the machinery and will soon go into use.

Waveland broadens annexation study

Waveland Town Council Tuesday night enlarged the area it wants D. M. Dornblatt Associates to perimeter survey for possible annexation. At the same time they formally authorized the survey. The area under consideration is about three times the size of Waveland's present boundaries.

Last week council indicated it wanted a survey running along the east edge of the marsh below Gulfside Assembly to a point about 900 feet north of U.S. 90 and crossing the highway just west of Blossman Gas Co., thence roughly parallel to 90 to a point near Ferncliff's Service Station and from there to the beach along the section line now separating Waveland from Bay St. Louis.

The plan adopted Tuesday still has the same southwest line along the marsh and the same line between Waveland and Bay St. Louis but extends northerly all the way to Jourdan River. From the junction point where Waveland and Bay St. Louis diverge the line would follow the section line to Jourdan River, then west with Jourdan River the boundary until it meets Edwards Bayou, then follow the bayou to Washington Road, thence to Kiln Road and northwest along Kiln Road to the intersection with Waveland Avenue extended. From there the survey will go along a section line running west of Blossman Gas to Beach Blvd. just east of the marsh.

The plan adopted was approximately a midpoint of the five alternatives presented by Thomas Gingles, engineer with Dornblatt Associates. Gingles' primary recommendation would have gone along the river past Edwards Bayou to Bayou La Croix and from there to the beach.

In its only other action before adjourning to Dec. 1, the Eye old Webb as cultural center

City Commission Council agreed Monday to try to speed plans for renovation of the old Webb School building on Third Street as a cultural center and public meeting place and designated two citizens' committees to work on the project.

The decision came after Mrs. Wayne Ducomb, president of the newly formed Hancock Art League, Rev. Michael Kelly of Our Lady of the Gulf Parish and Rev. Charles R. Johnson of Christ Episcopal Church appeared before the city fathers to seek facilities for expanded cultural programs in Bay St. Louis.

These three were appointed as a committee to report back Dec. 7 on a plan to supervise use of the building. Council renewed its directive to James Travira, Bert Seffert and Fred Wagner, which Mayor John Scalfie said had been issued several weeks ago, to speed a study of the cost of making the building usable.

Council agreed to check other municipalities before taking action on a request from Sheriff and Tax Collector Syl-

Logue new CO of 139th

Steps to fill promptly the 27 openings in the complement assigned to the 139th Transportation Co., Hancock County's National Guard unit, were announced by Capt. Thomas O. Logue this week after he assumed command of the company in ceremonies Sunday night at the armory on Washington Road.

Logue, who has 14 years of service in the Army Reserves, was transferred to take the post succeeding Capt. Wallace E. Farragut of Pass Christian. Farragut has been CO here since the unit returned from a year's active duty at Ft. Chaffee, Ark., during the Berlin crisis.

Farragut has been transferred to the staff of the 156th Battalion at Biloxi. The 139th

Marochino heads chamber

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce board of directors at its annual reorganizational meeting Monday night elected Joseph Marochino of Monitor Panel Co. as president for 1965. Marochino, who was vice president this year, succeeds Powell Glass, Jr.

Mrs. Wayne Ducomb was elected vice president while Russell Chapman was chosen treasurer. Mrs. Frank Kiefer is secretary-manager of the Hancock chamber.

Five members of the board of directors were elected for two year terms at the general membership meeting last Thursday night at Coast Electric Power Assn. when a number of revisions in the by-laws were adopted.

The 32 members present re-elected Marochino and voted onto the board Chapman, John Longo, Jr., of Waveland, Lee Hayden and Charles Thomas. Glass, an retiring president, reported on some of the major accomplishments of the chamber during the year, including television coverage by Channel 4, New Orleans, for which Mrs. Polly Fagot was the member in charge, the group's role in creation of a United Fund to handle solicitation at Mississippi Test Operations and the like. Copies of the new chamber constitution, listing members

What's in it for Waveland

There continue to be vocal arguments against next Tuesday's $1,183,000 school bond issue primarily, but not exclusively, from Waveland. With one exception none of them make sense and are usually based on inaccurate or untrue foundations.

The one exception assumes Waveland will have its own school district before the bonds for the new school are completely paid. Of course this is a possibility, but we would wager a sizable sum that Waveland won't have enough pupils to qualify for its own school district unless the Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District gets a new senior high school. The reason is simple. While Waveland has great potential for growth, it has little potential for growth unless it has available a first class high school. Right now Bay High, which is Waveland's high school, is inadequate for the present pupil population.

The Waveland promoters who are speculating the town will add up to 200 new homes within the next year or so are leading the people down a garden path unless Waveland offers a good school system. After all, families with school age children - and they will constitute the preponderant majority of the permanent employees at MTO - will place good schools high on their list of things they want in the community in which they live. These Waveland property holders should be the most enthusiastic backers of the proposed new senior high school. After all it would be Waveland's school just as much as it would be Bay St. Louis'.

As we have said above, it is possible that Waveland will have its own school district before the bonds on the new senior high school have been retired. Also, we believe this is unlikely and almost certainly out of the question unless the new high school is built. To qualify for its own district - a dubious move - Waveland would have to have three times the 80 high school students now attending Bay High. This is the current law of Mississippi and any change is likely to require an even larger number of pupils. Furthermore, a high school with a student body in the 250 pupil range would have to be an inferior high school insofar as variety of courses offered. In addition it would be more costly to operate per student than a larger school.

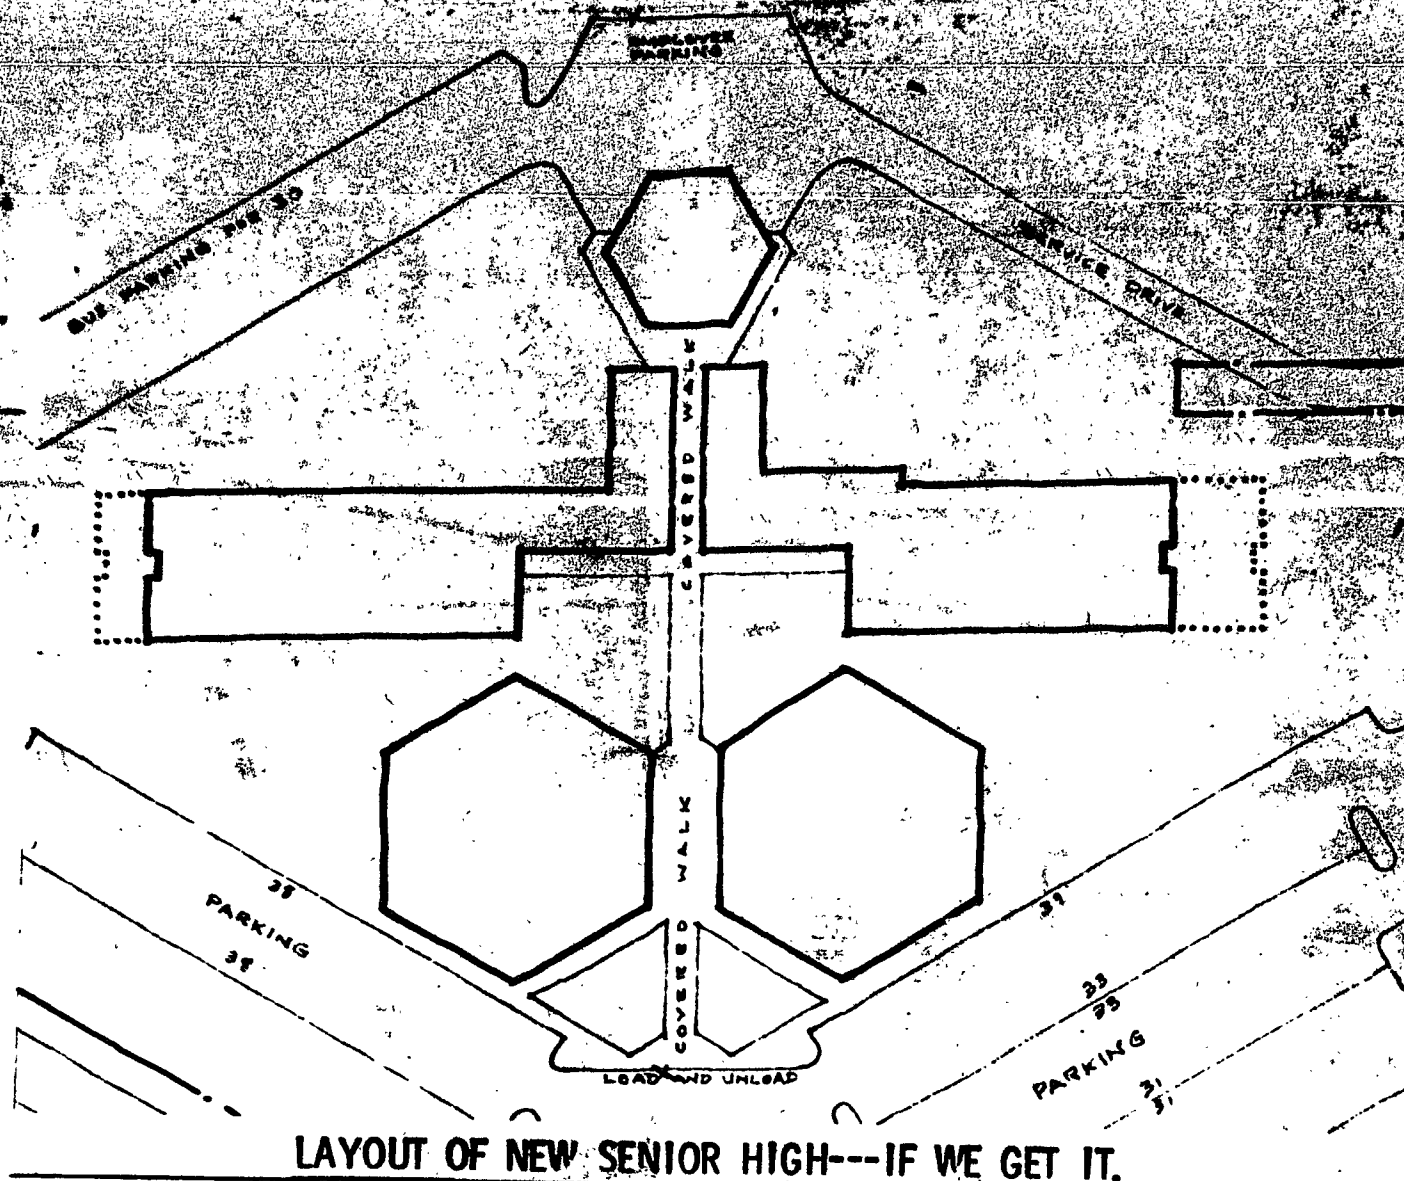

Finally, two minor but possibly conclusive disadvantages to Waveland's having its own school district are lack of suitable acreage on which to place a school (to get State permission for a new grammar school the school district must have five acres plus one acre for each 100 students, for a high school it must have 15 acres plus one acre for each 100 students), and State law does not permit transportation by school bus to schools located in the municipality operating the school district. This is the reason Waveland students are given transportation to Bay High and North Bay Elementary Schools while those students living in Bay St. Louis have to walk or be transported by their parents.

Waveland above all stands to gain by the proposed new senior high school. It should not let its jealousy of Bay St. Louis blind it to this fact and its public officials should give vocal support rather than worrying about their next campaign for election.

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. Which leads us to muse about a power-puff bowl for a Jay-cette project.

What's in it for Waveland?

LAYOUT OF NEW SENIOR HIGH--IF WE GET IT.

A Conservative View By James J. Kilpatrick

Senator Goldwater did what he could, in the course of the late campaign, to translate into specific terms his general denunciation of "big government." He never wholly succeeded. Every time he reached for a grip on something tangible, he found that it turned into mist.

It is a pity, to take a specific example, that the Senator failed to make an issue of Federal policy in the field of housing. There is a classic story to be told here, many-dimensional, and the Senator could have taken the Omnibus Housing Act of 1964 as his text.

The Federal government has been involved in direct housing ventures since 1937, when the first modest program of subsidized public housing came into being. The so-called "urban renewal" programs came along in 1949, the "urban planning" subsidies five years later. Federal housing insurance, authorized in 1934, aimed at the public housing projects. Today the sprawling Housing and Home Finance Agency presides over a veritable housing empire. Its policies profoundly affect the lives of countless American families and tend to change the face of American cities.

Perhaps Mr. Goldwater took a look at this hydra-headed outfit, and gave up in despair. The new housing act authorizes more than $1.1 billion to continue existing programs and to launch four new programs during the coming year. This was exclusive of public housing, as such, which will require another $222 million merely to sustain annual contributions to existing public housing projects.

These sums of money, vast as they are, again amount to so much mist. What needs to be better understood is the prevailing influence of national housing policy upon human beings and whole cities. Mr. Goldwater could have attempted a study of Federal power, how it grows, how it works.

Consider, if you will, the impact of Federal power upon the enactment of local housing laws. The new omnibus act lays it down as a positive requirement that three years hence, no locality may be certified to receive Federal urban renewal or public housing assistance unless it has had a minimum standards housing code in effect for at least six months. This requirement is new to the law, but it is not new in practice. The custom in the urban renewal field is for Federal housing officials to make it plain to local councilmen that Federal aid depends on local cooperation.

We witnessed this gentle persuasion in my own city just a few weeks ago. The local Council had embarked upon a slum-clearing project, and now the time was at hand for collecting about $2 million in Federal subsidy for urban renewal. The people at the regional Federal housing office couldn't have been nicer. They couldn't have been firmer, either. They would approve the $2 million, all right, but not until the city passed a local sanitary housing law in accordance with Federal demands. One such demand calls for a local housing law providing that every dwelling unit, old or new, must be equipped with hot water facilities.

People take political philosophy seriously in my city, and the "hot water bill" created great controversy. Our existing local ordinance already provided for inside toilets, cold water, proper drainage, rat prevention, fire protection, and the general safety of tenants in rented quarters. The law seemed to be soundly based in proper considerations of public health and public safety. Granted that hot water is a good thing: Why make it compulsory by law? What did this have to do with public health?

So we went round and round. There were cries of "Federal control" and cries of "extortion." The hustings rang with hoarse urgings to tell the Federal officials, in Mr. Johnson's delicate phrase, to go you-know-where. In the end, our Council saw the light. It surrendered. It solemnly ordained that every dwelling unit in the city must have hot water facilities connected to a bath tub or shower, moreover, "the number of occupants using a bath tub or shower shall not exceed eight persons." And we got the $2 million.

How did the specific provisions of a local housing law become the business of a Federal bureau? Why, sir, because Federal power follows Federal aid. The one is substance, the other shadow. Within the dreary warrens of public housing projects, the rule applies in far more personal ways. There is not a major city in the country left untouched by the limitations on income fixed for tenants of the public housing projects. Here incentive withers and dies. Who dares to succeed when success means eviction? To be sure, some tenants move upward and prosper. But the project and its bureaucracy remain. Big the Federal law is, and the new law authorizes $100 additional units.

Meanwhile, urban renewal moves inexorably onward. Some noxious slums, of course, are rooted out, but in almost every case a number of decent, sanitary, interesting old buildings are demolished with them. In their place we get "open spaces," which are seldom a virtue or we get high-rise structures of a dreadful dullness; we trade off texture and vitality for honest dirt, and receive in exchange a municipal antiseptic. It is all hygienic, and architecturally it is a bore.

Mr. Goldwater might have been able to do something with these aspects of "big government." A great many professional nays, to judge from the magazines and professional journals, are beginning to be deeply disturbed by some of the implications of Federal domination of the housing field. There is something bone-chilling in the new program of Federal aid to Federal "displacements," by which the Federal officials transfer to the social basket-cases produced by massive renewal. How did the Federal government get into this? Mr. Goldwater would have provoked no satisfactory answers, but he would have rendered a useful public service in raising some serious questions.

Dear Mr. President: As a native son of Texas you are familiar with the terminology of the Old West that is known as "Mexican Stand-off." Conversely, in the same Southern tradition I, Col. John R. Baxter, a Southerner by geographical proximity, am "calling you out." I am here to bring you unity—$10 million worth. But in order to get you've got to give. And the giving involves an audience with you. Now $10 million is $10 million.

The ten million dollars involved belongs to the American people, and it is only fitting that you, as their duly elected leader accept it for them. So I, who have a great deal to give, am requesting that you, who have much to gain, set up an appointment for me through the Press and in this manner fuse the Southern Sector into unity-wise Nationalism. COL. J. R. BAXTER, Ret.

The liberals pointed out that Byrd supported Johnson in the three previous Presidential elections. But Byrd is a personal friend of the President. The President's advisers have been busy. The President's advisers have been busy. The President's advisers have been busy. The President's advisers have been busy. The President's advisers have been busy.

Johnson is known to be grateful to Byrd for not taking any action. There are several whippersnaps that Byrd has been a "Johnson" policy, passed the word political machine to support the President. The President's advisers have been busy. The President's advisers have been busy. The President's advisers have been busy. The President's advisers have been busy. The President's advisers have been busy.

As a result, Johnson will not encourage any more will say to no finance chairman to harass and President's interest.

Beat 4 school vote check slated Friday

An inspection of the Beat 4 precinct boxes from the Nov. 3 general election has been scheduled for 8:30 a.m. Friday at the request of Clifton J. Ladner of Fenton who ran second in the three-man race for the beat's seat on the county board of education.

Circuit Clerk Lamar Otis said he fixed the date at the request of Ladner's attorney, Harvey Hutchins.

The county election commission certified Eric Larsen of Kiln as winner after canvassing the vote Nov. 5, S. P. Powell, the incumbent, ran third. Both men and their attorneys have been notified of the inspection request.

2 hospitalized in Friday, 13th crash on US 90

Two were hospitalized when their automobiles were demolished in a head-on collision near the Mississippi Weighing Scales on U.S. 90 at 11:35 p.m. Friday, Nov. 13.

State Highway Patrolmen A. R. Waits and J. R. McNeil, investigating officers, report that Howard E. Yocam, 34, Pass Road, Huddsboro, was passing another car, travelling east when the crash occurred. Louis J. Moreau, 36, of 132 Court Street, Bay St. Louis, driver of the westbound vehicle was admitted to Hancock General Hospital for treatment of head and facial lacerations, cuts and bruises and released the following day.

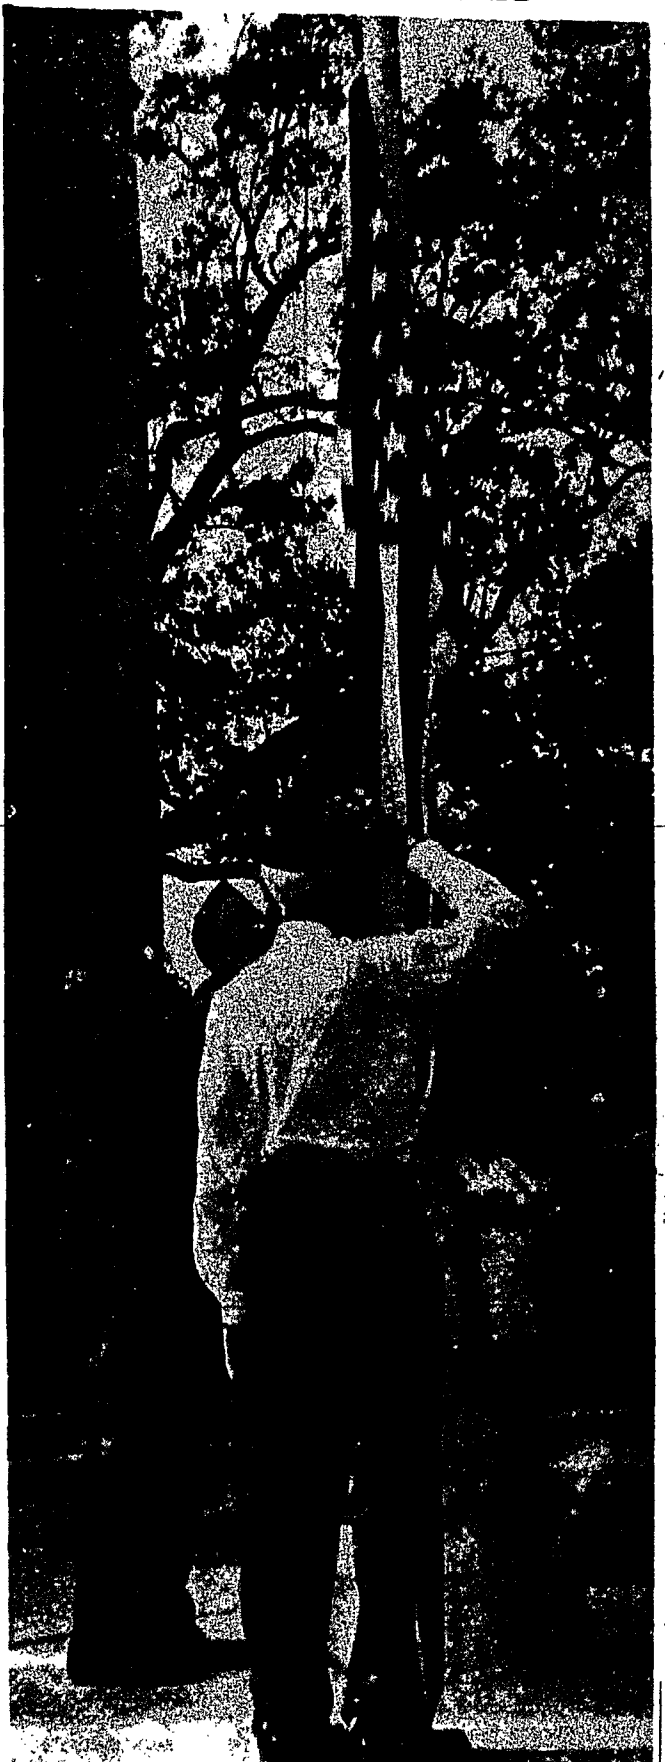

Yocam, who suffered fractured ribs, elbow injuries and cuts and bruises was pinned beneath his car and could not be removed until a wrecker freed him, is still a patient in Hancock General. He was issued a ticket for failing to yield right of way.

Hancock Tuesday.

The Hawks are then scheduled to participate in the round-robin series at Pearl River Central, Nov. 25-28.

Perkinson plans technician class for jobs at MTO

A program to train electronic technicians for employment at the Mississippi Test Operations Center has been developed by the vocational division of the State Department of Education and Perkinson Junior College. A. P. Fetherstone, state director of vocational education, and J.J. Hayden, Jr., president of Perkinson Junior College, announced this program following a meeting at the MTO Center.

The employing contractors at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration estimate that there will be a need for approximately 40 electronic technicians by mid 1965. In order to have a supply of trained personnel available by this time, this program is set to begin by January 1, 1965.

Because of the draft call with a larger quota pending in January, the new CO said he hopes many men will enlist now with the guard under the program which calls for six months of active training rather than the normal Army stretch. Logue was with the control group at Birmingham, Ala., under the IVth Corps until his transfer. He served two years on active duty during the Korean War and has been to six Reserves schools since that time. He is administrator of Hancock General Hospital.

(Cont. from Page 1.) mayor and board of aldermen accepted Space Age Structures' bid of $8,569.80 for construction of a 40 x 60 foot steel building to house the town's two fire engines. Alford and Associates, Biloxi, bid $9,965 for a similar 40 x 62 foot structure and Building Coordinators and Consultants, New Orleans, bid $6,564 for erection of the concrete slab on which it would be placed. They made no bid on the foundation.

While Space Age Structures' bid on the building itself was about $200 more than Building Coordinators, that firm also gave a figure including the foundation and its steel is painted on both sides while the New Orleans firm's material is painted on one side only. The aldermen unanimously concluded that these differences made Space Age's bid the best.

While secretary C. O. Duffour has returned from New Orleans, where he underwent an eye operation, Paul Henley substituted as secretary.

Neither Ladner nor Phillips were at Saturday's meeting. Powell asked the board president, Ed P. Orme, to see that the superintendent has his 1964-65 budget, due last July 15, ready for Friday's session, noting that superintendents in adjoining counties are disturbed about the matter.

Trustees discussed with Arthur Necaise, transportation supervisor, and the school bus mechanics purchase of automotive parts outside the county. They were instructed to buy locally whenever possible. Orme noting that one recent bill from New Orleans could have been 25 per cent less if bought here. The supervisor was authorized to buy a surplus motor for Bus 27.

Employment of Mrs. Billy Harrison of Kiln to replace Mrs. Roland Ladner for the balance of the term on the HNC faculty was approved. J.D. Penton, HNC superintendent, was instructed to continue seeing that his faculty demands high standards from students. Sam Burton was approved as bus driver for the Pearlington-Valencia C. Jones School route succeeding Ordis Harris, who has become ill.

75 completing church course for new mass

A class of about 75 men from Roman Catholic parishes along the Mississippi Coast will complete a six-week series of instruction Sunday at Our Lady of the Gulf Church on their duties as lectors and commentators for Sunday masses as one of the revisions in procedure, introduced by the current Ecumenical Council, goes into effect.

Prayers will be said in English at the masses commencing next Sunday, Nov. 29, and the laymen will lead the congregation in recitation of prayers in English, rather than Latin prayers spoken by the clergy, in offering the masses.

Rev. William Woestmann of Our Lady of the Snows Seminary operated by the Oblate Fathers has served as instructor for the group with Msgr. James J. Hannon of Our Lady of the Gulf Parish as host for the classes.

Members of the parishes in Waveland, Kiln, Pass Christian, Long Beach along with a few from Gulfport and Biloxi have been attending the instructions at OLG along with men from the host church.

Those from Our Lady of the Gulf completing their instruction include Dr. M.D. Horne, chairman of the group, Andre Arceneaux, Harold Battalora, Gerald Cox, R.G. Hubbard, III, Peter Benvenuti, Philip Hurley, Max Gianelloni, Joseph Kersanac, Ames Kergosien, J. C. Koenen, Dr. A. K. Martinovich, Jr., J.K. McKenna, Billy Murphy, Ray Stueffell, David Treutel, George L. Seuzeneau, Jr., and Frank Lagarde.

Randolph tops Jones in football

Valens C. Jones gridders, leading three times inside their own five yard line, fell 14-21 to their arch rival, Randolph High of Pass Christian, in their final game of the season last Friday night at Tiger Stadium.

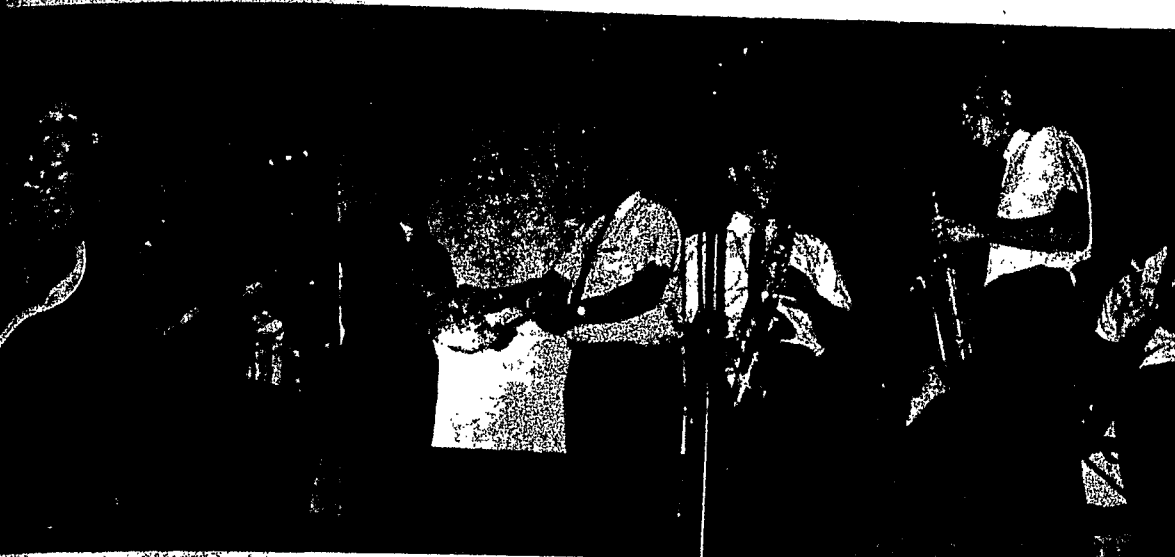

Jones' lone score came on a 57-yard kick-off return in the first quarter by Robert Whavers after Randolph scored in the early minutes of play. Randolph's first tally came in three plays after they recovered a VJ fumble inside the five on the opening kick-off. Jay Armstrong scored the first two touchdowns for the visitors, his second being an 80-yard run. Michael Roman added the others. The Pass squad scored twice in the second quarter and once in the fourth.

The Jones' Tigers close out 1964 with a 4-4 record and start practicing next week for the basketball season which opens Dec. 2. Conference football awards will be determined at a meeting of the South Mississippi Athletic loop at Wiggins Sunday.

BETTER SCHOOLS MAKE BETTER COMMUNITIES

Many people in this area will remember well that when construction of Bay High's present building was planned, forty years ago, there was a great deal of opposition from those who feared its cost. Fortunately, however, there were also determined citizens who foresaw future needs and who were able to push the project through, so that a large brick building replaced the former dilapidated frame one.

And now today we stand in the same position, facing an even more desperate need for a new building for our children and grandchildren. We know that facilities which were excellent forty years ago are far from adequate today. Our high school is bursting; our teachers are handicapped and working under most trying conditions. Our young people need many courses offered in other high schools across the nation and denied to them here because of sheer lack of space for additional classes.

Our nearest NASA neighbor, Picayune, for example, added 26 extra classrooms to its schools last year, and so many more are being built now that they will be able to accommodate from 600 to 800 more students next year! Already Picayune teaches its foreign language courses in laboratories furnished with the latest electronic equipment. (We have no such equipment at all.) Its science students have a large, up-to-date physics and chemistry laboratory and another especially for biology. (Bay High has only one small laboratory, equipped with the barest necessities and crowded with desks so that it can serve triple duty. . . as a lab, a science lecture room, and a French classroom) Picayune has an excellent library and an air-conditioned school auditorium seating 1200. (Bay High's library is extremely inadequate and its auditorium seats only 350. Its students body numbers 505 and is increasing from day to day, so that it's impossible now to have a general assembly!) Picayune offers its students courses in art in a specially equipped art department with a well-trained teacher. (Our talented high school boys and girls get nothing at all in such work.) And the comparisons could go on and on. In essence, however, Picayune schools have an AA rating, and its students have far-reaching advantages over ours when they go on to college or out into the world to work. If we too want the best for our children, we too must provide it!

Many centuries ago the Romans had a god named Janus, who had two faces, one looking each way, and they named the month of January for him, because it could look backward over the old year and forward over the new. It seems to me now that we can do the something in this school bond situation. . . We can look back forty years to the time when our fathers pushed through a school bond issue for us when we were children, and we can look ahead to a prosperous future for this area with new families moving in and an expanded school system which our children need so desperately. . . and need now!

33 kids attend JC bike safety show at Gulfview

Thirty-three Clermont Harbor and Lakeshore children braved heavy showers Saturday to turn out for the Jaycee-sponsored bicycle safety program at Gulfview School, Lee Choppin, Jaycee president, reported. Only one came on his bike, the others being brought by parents or friends in cars and two loaded bikes into the cars. Each received reflective tape and instructions for its use. A total of 151 children have attended the programs, seen the films, heard the talks, taken the tests, enjoyed refreshments and had a chance to win bicycle accessories, Joe Kersanac, project chairman, reported. Reflective tape has been placed on bikes or distributed to more than 200 children and Christ Episcopal Day School used the films and test for the entire study body. On this basis, Kersanac figures more than 350 children have been exposed to the safety project. The program returns to Bay St. Louis for the fourth time this Saturday because of poor participation by local children on the previous occasions it was given. Final appearance will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at S. J. Ingram School.

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1964

St. Stanislaus alumni elect Carver proxy

Warren Carver of Bay St. Louis was elected president of St. Stanislaus College Alumni Assn. at its annual meeting Saturday during the homecoming celebration on the campus.

Curtis Matherne was chosen first vice president with John Egloff as second vice president. Brother Hugh, president of the college, serves as secretary.

Named to the executive committee were Lawrence Vallon, class of 1931, Steve Wyatt, '64; Eugene Monti, '38; Alvin M. Genin, '29; Barchmans S. Wilbert, '23; William H. Foster, '31; A.J. Brady, '27; John Bopp, '33; James G. Riordan, '64; Earle Christenberry, Jr., '45; Gerard J. Black '60; and Luke Saucier, '31.

A buffet supper was served in the early evening after which the group joined in the parade to the stadium for the football game with Notre Dame High School of Biloxi.

announced this week by Brother Neri, S.C., athletic director.

The Rocks will play in the Pass Christian High tourney Dec. 2-5; D'Iberville there Dec. 8, Gulfport tourney there Dec. 9-12, Pass High there Dec. 12, Notre Dame there Dec. 17, Ben Franklin there Dec. 26, Ben Franklin there Dec. 30, Chalmette there Dec. 31, Sacred Heart there Jan. 3, St. Martin tourney there Jan. 6-9, Pass High there Jan. 8, Notre Dame here Jan. 12, I'berville here Jan. 15, Van Cleave there Jan. 19, Bay High tourney there Jan. 22, Our Lady of Victories here Jan. 29, O.L.V. there Feb. 5, Van Cleave here Feb. 9, and St. John there Feb. 12.

Homecoming tie mars SSC record

The St. Stanislaus College homecoming grid tilt against Notre Dame Saturday night resulted in a 6-6 tie which left the Rockchaws with their first undefeated season since 1941 and sitting on top of the heap among independents in Mississippi.

The Rocks moved out front with their single tally in the first half when Rusty Judlin snagged a pass from Curtis Matherne and raced 70 yards to the end zone. Paul Weaver's try for the point from placement was no good.

Recovering a Rockchaw fumble in the third quarter, the Notre Dame Rebels battled their way to the Stanislaus four-yard line from where Joe Fountain plunged over for the tie score. As the final whistle blew, the Rocks had driven to the Rebel 35 from their own 20.

Coach Billy Murphy is scheduled to lose 13 seniors from the Rockchaw squad for next season. They are ends Dale Burke, Ned Heath, Barry Favre, and Mike Griffin; tackles Paul Weaver and Mike Andrews; guards Lenny Aucoin and Wayne Windsor; center Neil Pick; fullbacks Doc Rhodes and Jimmy Rosato; halfback Bob Tessier and quarterback Curtis Matherne.

Rock cagers open season here Nov. 29

St. Stanislaus College will open its 1964-65 basketball season when it plays host to Sacred Heart of Hattiesburg at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 29.

We'll continue Dorsey's juvenile crowd in our final installment, to wit: "Write a few letters to friends and tell them you love to receive them. They are not here for much longer and you can make them feel that life's really worthwhile. Go visit that old lady around the corner and make her feel important. You may learn something yourself. At any rate your reward comes in the end. And go to church. Be a leader not a follower. Help others to learn the truth."

Bay High Tigers lost their last home game to the Greyhounds of Ocean Springs in an exciting battle at Tiger Stadium Friday night. For the first half it appeared that sports writers' predictions of a wholesale slaughter were correct, but late in the third quarter the home team came to life and scored twice and until the final two minutes of play held the score to 21-19. . . The Greyhounds pushed across in the waning moments and the final 27-19 was still listed as an upset of sorts. We'll leave half-time show descriptions to our band reporters. Valda Pittsair but as senior band members and majorettes were recognized, we'll personally give graduating cheerleaders Lydia Dillmann, Sue Wood, Linda Hamilton, Kappy Clark, Melva Luke and Geraldine Kidd a big pat on the back for their hard work all season. Dale Russell hosted a post game party for cheerleaders and members of the football team at her Main Street home.

On Saturday a number of Bay High seniors left bright and early for AIC college exams at Pearl River Junior College. SJA graduates, Maureen Thompson, a student at Siena College in Memphis, Tenn., where she campaigned as a "Johnson Girl" was quite thrilled when she managed to shake hands with the president, not once but twice.

The RHA (4th period class), Bay High, elected the following officers at a meeting Oct. 28: Bettye Ferricchio, president; Linda Smith, vice president; Judy Hayward, secretary; Kay Lindsey, treasurer; Kay Gibson, reporter; Barbara Burch, song leader and Sherry Dean, historian.

Ferri Gladi, daughter of Ray Gladi of WDSU-TV, and a frequent visitor of Janet Truitt, reigned as queen of Southwestern College of Louisiana's homecoming in Hammond, La., last Saturday night.

We're sorry to hear that someone with a sick sense of humor let the air out of all four of the tires on Faye Monti's new car and even worse, broke off her radio aerial when it was parked at the bowling alley last Tuesday night.

Among those giving Halloween parties last weekend were Mary Beth Cardin, Sharon Redding and Mike Long.

A very happy birthday wish goes to Marlene Lynch who received a sports car (starring her hair charm bracelets) and a portable television on her 15th, Saturday, Nov. 7.

Tigers end season with 6-4 record

The Bay High Tigers closed their football season Friday night with a 6-4 win-loss record by shutting out Harrison Central 39-0 at Long Beach. The Red Rebels were left with a single win in 10 outings this year. Twice during the first half Harrison Central mounted attacks which got the Rebels into Tiger territory, but both times the drives were nullified by Bay High's Stanley Burch intercepting Harrison Central passes. The Tigers drove back their foes for a net loss in yardage during the second half.

Midway through the first quarter Mike Strong took a 23-yard pass from Johnny Penton for the first goal and Larry Johnson kicked the conversion. Still in the initial period, Gary Fricks took a handoff from Penton and bounded over on a five-yard run. Johnson's kick for the extra point was called back on a penalty, and an attempt by the Tigers to run the play failed.

Burch rang the bell for Bay High twice in the second quarter, first on a five-yard run and later on a 20-yard dash which topped off a drive of 61 yards. The Tigers held the field 25-0 at the half after neither second quarter conversation attempt succeeded.

Scoring honors in the third period went to Fricks who ran two yards for a TD and also ran the extra point. The final stanza saw Danny Krankey make pay dirt on a 2-yard run and Johnson perform the conversion on a running play.

Tiger seniors completing their final season for Coach Lance Lumpkin are Penny Burch, Johnson, Jeff Phipps, Walter Gagnon, Jim Rutherford, Bruce Kleinhaus, Terry Branigan and Ross Maurig.

Why we the Commission Council of the City of Bay St. Louis urge you to VOTE ☒ YES for the School Bond Issue Nov. 24th.

1. WE MUST CONTINUE TO PROVIDE OUR CHILDREN WITH THE BEST POSSIBLE EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES SO AS TO MAINTAIN THE HIGH STANDARDS OF OUR PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM. WE MUST NOT STAND BY AND ALLOW OUR SCHOOL PLANT TO BECOME INADEQUATE OR OBSOLETE.

2. WE MUST REALIZE THAT THE LACK OF A MODERN, ADEQUATE AND ACCREDITED PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM WOULD HAVE A SERIOUS EFFECT ON THE POTENTIAL OF OUR INDUSTRIAL AND ECONOMIC GROWTH OF OUR COMMUNITY AND WOULD, WITHOUT ANY DOUBT, SERIOUSLY AFFECT PROPERTY VALUES TO A MUCH GREATER PROPORTION THAN THE SMALL ADDITIONAL INCREASE IN TAXES.

3. THE TREMENDOUS INCREASE IN OUR BUSINESS INDEX, ECONOMIC ACTIVITY, JOB OPPORTUNITIES, POTENTIAL INDUSTRIAL GROWTH WHICH WE ARE PRESENTLY EXPERIENCING, WOULD BE MOST SERIOUSLY AFFECTED BY THE DEFEAT OF THE BOND ISSUE. OUR CITY HAS RECENTLY ENDORSED BY AN OVERWHELMING VOTE, A $3,000,000. EXPENDITURE FOR SEWAGE AND WATER FACILITIES AND IMPROVEMENTS IN OUR NATURAL SYSTEM. THESE IMPROVEMENTS ARE NECESSARY NOT ONLY TO TAKE CARE OF PRESENT NEEDS, BUT TO PROVIDE FIRST CLASS SERVICES FOR A RAPIDLY GROWING COMMUNITY. WE MUST CONTINUE TO MOVE FORWARD.

We the members of the Commission Council of the City of Bay St. Louis heartily ENDORSE THE SCHOOL EXPANSION PROGRAM and urge every voter in the Municipal Separate School District to go to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 24 and VOTE ☒ YES FOR THE BOND ISSUE.

FOR OUR CHILDREN'S FUTURE - VOTE "YES" NOV. 24.

PILGRIM DOODLING - Members of New Orleans Pilgrimage Synagogue Orchestra who appeared in two concerts early this month at Bay High School gymnasium apparently decided to leave behind a little more learning for student body. Chorus room which students used to draw revealed the members one through 10 spelled out in five foreign languages on blackboard the morning after. Lessons included German, Russian, French, Spanish and Hebrew.

Dr. Leonard Holloway, vice president of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, will be guest speaker for Harvest Day Services Sunday at First Baptist Church.

Harvest Day activities include Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. and morning worship at 11 a.m.

At noon members and guests will have their all-church dinner. Each family will bring a basket lunch and the dinner will be served behind the Harbison Recreation Building.

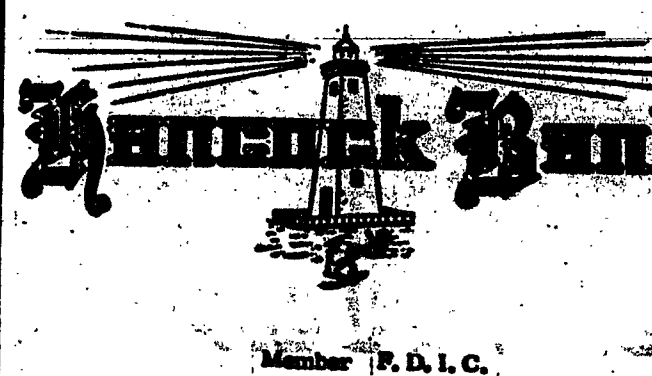

An afternoon fellowship service will begin at 1:30 p.m. featuring singing of all the church choirs under the direction of Darway Long, minister of music-education. Another feature will be the showing of the film made at the 1949 dedication of the present building.

Rev. Emory B. Green, pastor, invited all the members and friends to attend. Because of the Harvest Day program there will be no evening services at the church this Sunday.

see that fashions here have gone British all the way. With girls wearing knee socks, knee boots, trench coats, riding hats and the like. In addition to this the Bay has acquired four British exchange students who are visiting in schools here. At least that's what some girls from Gulfport reported. Can anyone verify this rumor?

FOCUSING ON SOUTHEAST MISSISSIPPI

Our Industrial Development Department provides the magnifying glass that puts the 22 county Southeast Mississippi area into focus for home-building industries.

Since 1925 - the year Mississippi Power Company began operations and established the state's first full-time industrial development department - we've worked closely with local civic and development groups and state agencies to help bring the Mississippi story to the attention of out-of-state businessmen and investors.

Last year the joint effort was successful in attracting a capital investment of more than $5 million in new and expanded industry to the area. The annual payroll of these industries will add over $4 million to Mississippi's economy.

Such programs are an investment in the future progress of our state - reflecting our desire to help Mississippi grow and prosper.
